

PRESS RELEASE

LNCSTAT.com - The Redesigned Site for Nurses Who Want to Expand Their Career

Tampa, FL - January 18, 2017 - Every Nurse will come to a point in their career where they will need an option like LNC STAT. Several new resources have just been released for Nurses who are interested in expanding their career into Legal Nurse Consulting. LNC STAT has undergone a fresh new rebranding. The LNCSTAT.com Web site has been completely redesigned to offer an unparalleled and interactive experience for its users. The certification courses offered through the LNCSTAT.com site have undergone major updates and can be accessed using a proprietary mobile online training portal that is accessible on any desktop, laptop, tablet, or phone. All of these new features come together to create the most effective Legal Nurse Consulting certification system available.

Why Nurses Must Know About LNC STAT: Nurses are the backbone of the healthcare industry. However, they receive very little appreciation for the long hard hours that they contribute in often unfavorable conditions. Even worse, there comes a point in the career of every Nurse where they are no longer able to work hands-on or at the bedside. This painful culmination of a nursing career can be devastating, and can happen because of many reasons. It can be the result of a severe injury, extreme burn-out, cut-backs, old age, or physical inability to handle the demanding job. At this point, the Nurse must find another way to bring in income and support their family. This is where LNC STAT comes in. The LNC STAT course offers several certifications that show Nurses how to utilize their medical expertise in the legal field, and continue making a difference in the community.

What are Legal Nurse Consultants and why are they needed? A Legal Nurse Consultant is a Nurse who utilizes their medical expertise in any legal case involving medical records or where their medical expertise is of use. Any legal case that involves medical records should have a medical expert interpreting those records. Nurses are able to use their medical expertise to provide an analysis and interpretation of the records for attorneys. Because record management is one of their major roles in healthcare, Nurses can review and analyze the medical records with more accuracy, and at a lower cost than doctors. In addition to working with law firms, Nurses are also able to use their medical expertise in insurance companies, managed care organizations, and risk management. LNC STAT works to help Nurses through this transition by offering several Legal Nurse certification courses that train them to utilize their medical expertise in these other specialties, and find long term success.

The LNC STAT Philosophy: The launch of these new resources coincides with the LNC STAT Philosophy. The primary goal of LNC STAT is to ensure that Nurses gain a comprehensive skillset and necessary tools that they can easily put to use and find success in this new career path. Many other organizations that offer Legal Nurse Consulting certifications often fall short when it comes to offering Nurses the training they need to become effective as Legal Nurse Consultants.

“We are setting a new standard among Legal Nurse certifications. The comprehensiveness and effectiveness of the new LNC STAT system cannot be matched by any other organization.”
